We understand that your time is tight, so our PMP® Exam Prep training is designed to minimize your time away from work, and maximize your ability to pass the PMP® exam on your first try.

The secret is in our three-tiered approach to get you in shape for the exam.

The in-class portion of your training is a concentrated instructor-led workshop (8:00am - 5:00pm) designed to teach you the full scope of what you need to pass the PMP exam.

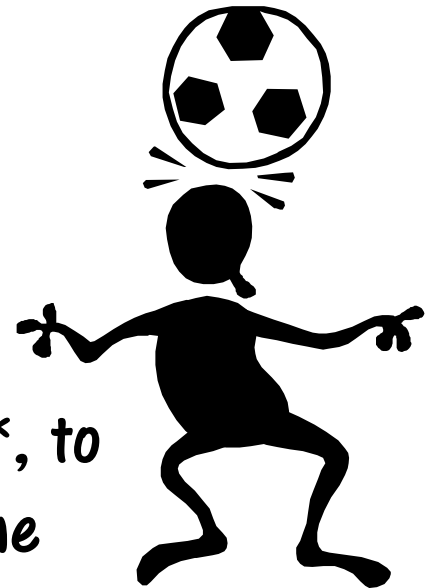

But, this is just the first step. Before you are ready for the exam, there are two more components to your training.

The PMP® exam covers a broad scope of materials.

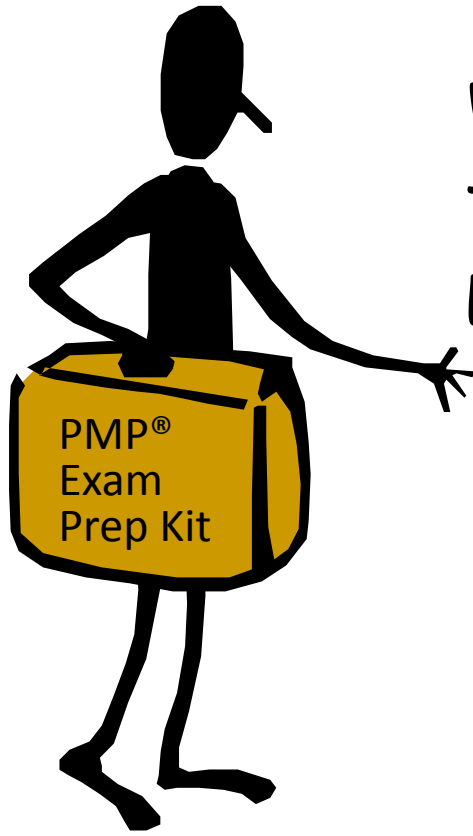

Due to differences in work experience, and prior knowledge*, to become fully prepared to write the PMP® exam different people will require more or less time preparing for any given exam topic.

* Prior to taking PMP® Exam Prep training, we recommend participants take WCP's PM Essentials workshop. Participants may also want to take our PM Essentials: Part 2 – Project Monitoring and Control workshop.

We recognize this, which is why in addition to the in-class instructor-led session, each participant receives a PMP® Exam Prep kit.

The PMP® Exam Prep kit is the second step in our helping you get into shape for passing the exam!

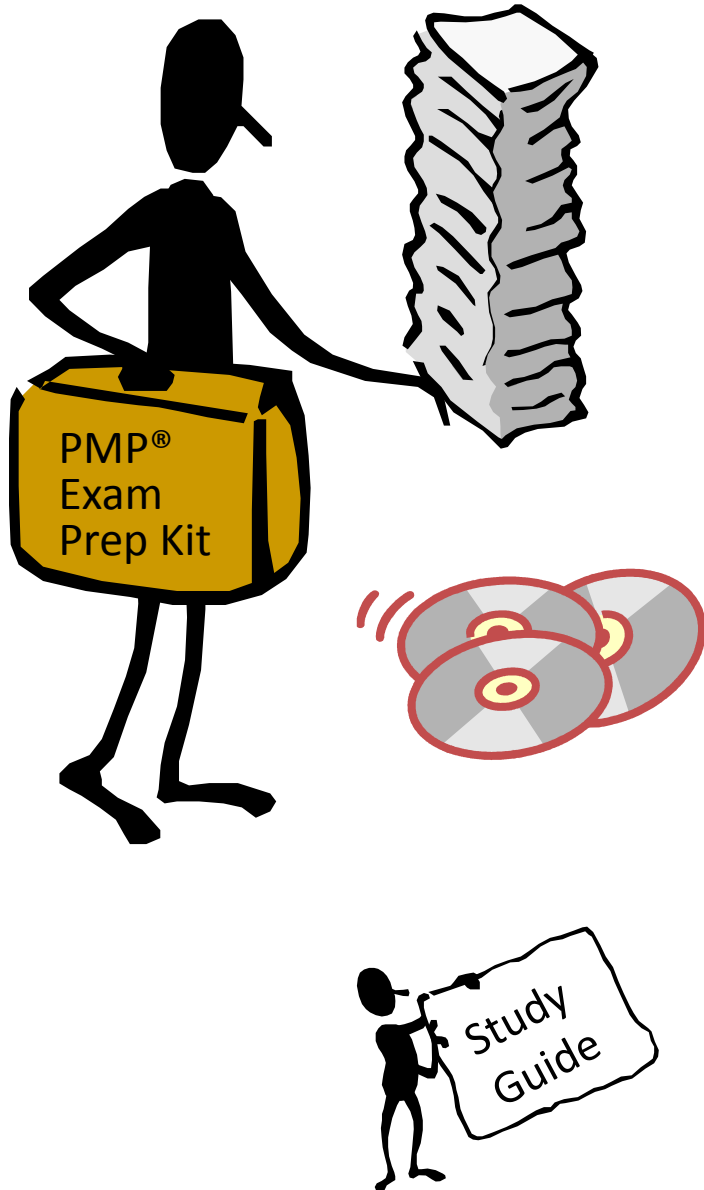

The kit includes the reference book :

“The PMP® Exam: How to Pass on Your First Try”, by Andy Crowe.

This is the book on which the 3-day workshop is based. It is not only an essential part of your exam preparation, it is a reference you will refer to often over your project management career.

Your Exam Prep kit also includes:

- A set of 250 flash cards, which you can use wherever you are to help drill yourself on the type of questions you will face when writing the actual PMP® exam
- 5 audio CDs in which three project management experts provide their insights into each exam topic, and provide advice on how best to prepare for the exam – perfect for those long commutes to work every day. The easy, conversational style makes the material come alive, and will help you apply it successfully on the exam.
- A laminated Study Guide. The colour Study Guide helps organize key concepts, provides memory aides, and defines important terms.

The final stage of your training is a 6-month subscription to InSite — the comprehensive web-based e-learning system which includes on-line training, interactive tools and a PMP® exam simulator.

Within InSite, each PMP exam topic gets its own self-contained training module. Each topic is then further broken down into smaller sub-topics to choose from.

InSite gives an estimated time for each topic and sub-topic, so you can easily schedule this supplementary training to fit your busy schedule.

Repeat any module as often as you like!

If you decide to go through the entire on-line training, you receive an additional certificate of completion for the on-line portion and you earn up to 20 additional PDUs (based on the actual time taken to complete the on-line training).

The on-line materials also include many other useful study tools.

Two favourites are the “Essential Formula Sheet”, and the interactive “Process Explorer”. The latter helps you really understand the inputs and outputs of each of the project management processes – a great tool given how common this type of question is on the exam.

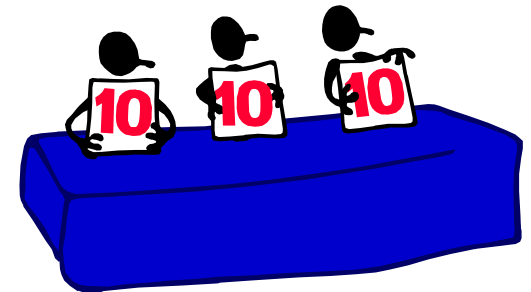

InSite's PMP® Exam simulator allows you to simulate an entire 4-hour PMP® Exam, or focus on specific topics.

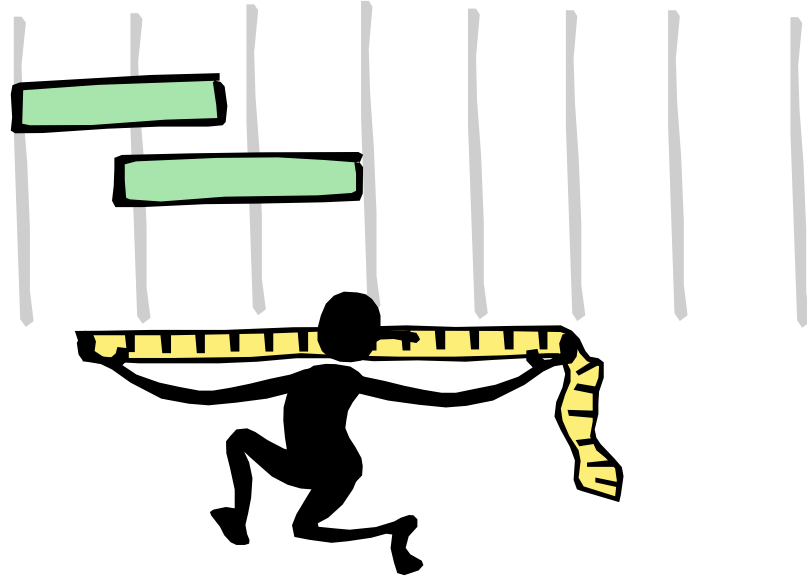

Fit the exam simulator into your busy schedule. Request custom exams with anywhere from 1 to 200 questions, focused on topics you choose.

InSite makes it easy to track the results of each test simulation you take. When you consistently score high using the exam simulator, you are ready to pass the actual PMP® exam - on your first try!

After the in-class workshop, we recommend you allow yourself at least three days of effort to reinforce your learning with the Exam Prep kit and the InSite e-learning system.

Go through the InSite on-line materials all at once, or spread out your study time over the 6-month subscription period included as part of WCP's PMP® Exam Prep training.
